

What difference have we made?

How Good is our Community Learning and Development (HGIOCLD) Self-evaluation quality indicators - framework used in Community Learning and Development to measure against set outcomes – used by HMIE (Her Majesty's Inspectors of Education)

These are the two main indicators used to measure what difference has occurred in relation to individuals and communities because they have been involved in personal development or community action activities

In quality indicator 2.1, 'Impact of the learning experience on individual participants (young people and adults)', the headings used which relate to this framework are:

- Successful learners
- Confident individuals
- Responsible citizens
- Effective contributors

In quality indicator 4.1, 'Impact of capacity building on the local community', the headings used which relate to this framework are that community groups should have:

- 'confident, skilled and active community members;
- active and influential roles in local and wider decision making;
- developed local services, where appropriate, in response to priority needs;
- effective planning, management and evaluation arrangements;
- ensured that they are inclusive and value social and cultural diversity;
- productive networks and relationships with other agencies and organisations'
